

Aastra

When Ash falls into the unexcavated hole in the desert, he discovers the aastra, the golden arrowhead. Everything then changes for Ash, and he is given powers he could never have imagined.

If you stumbled upon an aastra that could give you powers and change you into anyone or anything, what would those powers and changes be? How would you use your power?

What object would your aastra be?

What powers would it give you?

Would it change your appearance?

What would you do with your power?

